Dear Customer:

As you are most likely aware, a series of tariffs have recently been imposed on a vast range of imported products.

We wanted to let you know as soon as possible that we regretfully anticipate price increases as a result of these new tariffs.

Jacknob is in the process of evaluating the impact of these tariffs. Many of our products contain components sourced from multiple countries, so the impact of the tariffs may vary from product to product. We are also investigating to see if we can shift production of some of our products to non-tariff impacted countries. We anticipate completing our analysis by October 1 at which point we will issue new price sheets, with an effective date of October 15.

In the coming months we will continue to look for solutions that enable us to provide the most competitive pricing to our customers. If we are able to secure alternative sources not subject to the tariffs or if additional tariffs are levied we will re-visit your pricing and adjust it accordingly.

Sincerely,
Jacknob Corp.
